WE NOMINATE

Simeon Francis Moss, lifelong 42-year old Princetonian, whose experience as an educator, and as a practitioner in the complexities of labor relations, has brought him face-to-face with one of New Jersey's most challenging public-service assignments. This month, with the combined backing of Federal and State officials, Moss is energetically organizing an unprecedented attack on the problems presented by the City of Newark's unemployed, out-of-school youth—some 5,000 young men and women between the ages of 16 and 21 who are neither working nor are currently enrolled in any kind of educational institution or training program.

The Newark undertaking, the only venture of its kind in the State and one of the two pilot "youth employment projects" in the nation, is being given top priority on all levels of government, for Moss and his staff are grappling with matters of basic import in a democratic, highly industrialized society. As the city-wide program takes shape, and draws support from New Jersey and municipal agencies, Moss will be pondering such difficult questions as "What services are needed to keep pupils in school?", "How can untrained drop-outs be returned to school?", and "The impact of youth on existing job-markets?".

Moss, a ranking member of the State Department of Labor and for the past two years director of migrant education as well as liaison officer between the State and industry on problems of education and labor, was tapped for the post by State Commissioner Raymond P. Male with the blessing of Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg. In designating Moss the "catalyst in igniting and coordinating Newark's efforts," Male stressed Moss' qualifications for the position and his role as middle man in the labor department's program "to build a solid bridge between education and the State's manpower needs."

Prior to entering government service, the versatile Moss, a member of the Class of 1941 at Rutgers and a graduate alumnus of Princeton where he earned his master's degree in international affairs in 1949, had completed 11 years as a singularly effective teacher. A member of the staff of the State Manual Training School in Bordentown from 1939 to 1951, he taught for the next six years in the Borough Schools, first in the high school and then in the Witherspoon School. While History and English were his areas of specialization, he won the gratitude of countless youngsters as guidance counselor and as volunteer coach of baseball, basketball and soccer.

Moss, an infantry captain in both World War II and the Korean conflict, has compiled a distinguished record in Princeton community affairs. His major interests include the Witherspoon Street Presbyterian Church, the American Red Cross, the YMCA, and the Mercer County Mental Health Association. He is also a member of the executive committee of the Mercer County Branch of the N.A.A.C.P., a member of the board of managers of Annandale Reformatory, and a consultant to Rutgers on the sociological study of migrant family problems.

For his contagious enthusiasm for a job he describes as "something new, something that's never been tried before"; for his rare understanding of the attitudes and worries which often overpower underprivileged youth; for his dedication to the ideals by which free men live; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for

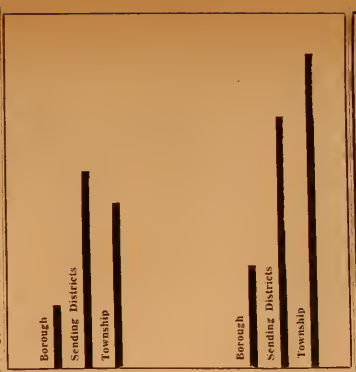
SCHOOLS MAKE NEWS In Borough and Township. It was the schools that made the news in Princeton this week:

- Westminster Choir College and the Borough Board of Education came to terms on the purchase of land across from the high school. (See Topics of the Town.)
- The Township Board of Education told the Borough Board that is could not commit future Township students to the Borough High School until it knew how the Borough planned to deal with the future Township high school population.

- Three Borough residents proposed that both Boards consider a unified, regional school district.
- William Rhodes was named Assistant to the Superintendent of the Borough Schools and Secretary of the Board, and the Borough is now seeking a new high school principal to replace Mr. Rhodes. (See Topics of the Town.)
- A new principal was appointed for Johnson Park School. (See Topics of the Town.)
- The high school got a new chairman for its largest department, the department of English. (See Topics of the Town.)



STUDENT ARITHMETIC: The bars above show the proportion of students who attend Princeton High School from the Borough, the Township and the six sending districts. Left group shows the present relationship; right group shows how things will line up in 1969-70 when all the present first-graders will be high school freshmen.

On April 8, 1954, the Township School Board signed a contract to send all Township students to the Borough's Princeton High School for their four years of secondary education. This contract expires September 1, 1965.

On April 3 of this year, the Borough Board wrote to the Township Board asking for a statement within 30 days" indicating the nature of "our future relationship," and asking specifically, how many years beyond 1965 the Township wanted to send its boys and girls to Princeton High.

PROGRESS REPORT

TOWN TOPICS reports with pleasure that the advertising volume in this 48-page issue is 18.2% higher than in the corresponding issue a year ago. This week's circulation of 14,177 copies is also a record high.

In a detailed letter made public by the Board and sent to Township Committee, Richard Pearson, chairman of the Township Board announced to the Borough that "in the absence of our legal representation in forming (these) plans, we cannot commit future Township students to the Borough High School over this period of time (to 1975) without knowledge of what your plans will be."

Specifically, the Township wants to know what steps can be taken, under a sending-district relationship, to take care of the coming increase in enrollment. It wants to know about the future high school curriculum and how the spurt in enrollment will affect it.

No Representation. What causes the deepest concern, however, is that the Township, which now provides the high school with 35 percent of its students, and will, by 1969-70 supply almost 50 percent, has absolutely no legal voice in running the school.

Mr. Pearson makes it plain that the Township is not planning to end things abruptly on September 1, 1965. He does say, however, that the present "dilemma" could be reduced if both Boards gave priority to this question of legal representation.

Under the present relationship, the Borough is powerless to offer representation to the Township. Only consolidation, regionalization, or some other merger could provide it.

Mr. Pearson says that the number of Township students affected by a sending-receiving relationship through 1975, the tuition burden on Township taxpayers and the principle of local control of public education, all require the Township board to assess a variety of possibilities.

The Township did appoint A. Robert Trudel to represent the Board on an advisory committee on high school curriculum, set up by the Borough Board for "constructive discussion of educational matters to the benefit of young people."

Here They Come! There are now 1498 students at Princeton High, from Borough, Township and six sending districts.

Franklin Township will drop next year, leaving only five.) The capacity of the school is 1500.

There are now 2072 boys and girls in grades 1-4 in Borough, Township and five sending districts. By 1969-70, they will all, every one of them, be in high school.

These are not cold little statistics, playing projection in some remote school yard. They are living right here right now learning C-A-T in a West Windsor first grade, depositing gum under Riverside chairs and batting home-runs at Nassau Street School.

Joined by the boys and girls who will move here in the next eight years, they make quite a team . . . and the capacity of Princeton High School is 1500.

Regional Answers? Confronted by these figures, Robert Palmer, unsuccessful Borough school board candidate this year, began in March to explore alternatives. He conferred with Joseph Clayton, deputy state commissioner of education, and with county officials. He called Tristam B. Johnson and Harvey Rothberg, two other Borough residents, and after a month of preparation, the three presented a Regionalization proposal Thursday night to the Township School Board.

In a regional plan, former districts are dissolved and their assets and liabilities conveyed to a new district. Current costs in the new district are distributed according to the number of pupils and debt service is distributed according to property valuations.

Enabling legislation is required from the state, but Mr. Palmer said that officials in the state department of education had assured him that it would not be hard to obtain.

Mr. Palmer presented data assembled from published school budgets to show that the school tax in both Borough and Township would be almost exactly the same under Regionalization as it is now.

"The future of the high school is the biggest factor," Mr. Palmer told the Township Board. "If you pull out, the Borough is ruined and it is preposterous to have separate high schools in the Borough and Township."

Mr. Johnson said there are 40-45 regional districts now in the state, and that state officials give regionalization "enthusiastic endorsement" because it is said to provide a better educational system.

"Each town would elect its own Board members," Mr. Palmer explained, "in contrast to consolidation, where members are chosen at large. The composition of the Board would be determined by the number of residents in a municipality."

"We Will Study." The Township Board told the three Borough petitioners that it would study their proposal as thoroughly as possible. The three had previously presented their plan in executive session to the Borough Board, where the reception was less enthusiastic.

Graham Rohrer, Borough Board president, told them that they had not demonstrated the educational need for regionalization, nor spelled out to his satisfaction the implementation of a regional plan. He also said that there were missing data, such as a 10-year projection of population.

"The plan is an arithmetic anomaly," Mr. Rohrer stated. "It purports to correct an alleged inequity by establishing an even more severe inequity and we question whether the Borough voters are prepared on the basis of information propounded by this unofficial group to give away control of their school system. The problem is one which obviously needs discussion not only by elected school officials but also by the governing officials of the two political bodies."

Mr. Rohrer said, however, that his Board had planned informal discussions with the Township and that the regionalization proposal would come up "very soon."

Borough Is Smallest

Borough students are in the minority at Princeton High School, and will be even more so in the future.

The school's six sending districts — West Windsor, Montgomery, Plainsboro, Hopewell Borough, Franklin and Rocky Hill — send 640 boys and girls to the high school and the seventh district, Princeton Township, sends 529. The Borough has only 329.

In eight years, the Borough will only have risen to 406. The sending districts, if they remain with the school, will send 757 and the Township 909. These figures refer only to boys and girls now attending Borough and sending schools, and do not include newcomers who may arrive between now and 1969.

Person To Person

Cory S. Kammler

We heard an interesting thing recently from a horticulturist. It seems that ordinary trees and plants obtain 90% of their nutrition from the air and only 10% of it from the soil. By a tree's use of the amazing agent chlorophyl the leaves absorb carbon from the air which gives it most of its substance, while the roots drink water from the soil with all of its chemical materials essential to production of more chlorophyl and growth of the tree or plant. Most trees and plants use NINE MORE elements in their growth than used by animal life, including carbon, oxygen, hydrogen, nitrogen, sulphur, phosphorus, potassium, calcium, magnesium, iron, manganese, boron, copper and zinc. After the needed elements are separated from the water taken in by the roots, the excess water is then given off by the leaves in the form of vapor. It is estimated that an ordinary elm tree of medium size will transpire up to 20,000 pounds of water in one single warm dry day. And we think of a tree as still life! Obviously there is more truth than poetry in the poem TREES, by Joyce Kilmer, wherein he says, "Only God can make a tree." Until we think of things like this we think of the maintenance and service of today's motors as complex . . . and by man's standards we believe it is. That's why we are dedicated to our job of providing you with, and conscientiously taking care of your automobile Kammler Buick-Pontiac Co., Route 206 (opposite Airport) Princeton — Tel. 1-2222.

AT LEAST IT'S ON THE MAP: The long-awaited sketch showing the route of the proposed by-pass from Route 206 to Hightstown was released this week by the State Highway Department. It is somewhat farther north than had been indicated in earlier estimates.

BY-PASS HEARING SET

For Route 92—Once 206-A. A public hearing on the much-discussed Princeton-Hightstown by-pass—now officially designated as Route 92—has been set by the State Highway Department for May 24. Formerly known as 206-A, it currently bears an estimated cost in excess of $14 million.

As the map shows, the projected path for the superhighway would pass north of Rocky Hill, Kingston, Princeton and Hightstown. A spokesman for the State Highway Department told TOWN TOPICS this week that "freeways today are running from a million to a million and a half per mile to build." The approximate length of the much-debated highway is 14 miles.

The dual highway would provide truck and through-traffic, much of which now goes through Princeton, with a limited-access bypass. It would cut through three counties—Somerset, Middlesex and Mercer—joining Route 206 at Montgomery Road with Route 33, a short distance southeast of the New Jersey Turnpike in East Windsor Township.

The hearing on May 24 will take place in the Pioneer Grange Hall on Ridge Road in Dayton. It will begin at 10.30 a.m.

Other Improvements Planned: The State Highway Department announcement lists improvement of Route 27 at the Kingston bridge as a part of the overall project. New bridges would be built over both the Millstone River and the Delaware and Raritan Canal. The area has been the site of many accidents through the years because of the extremely sharp curve.

Interchanges are proposed at Montgomery Road-Route 206; a quarry Road between Kingston and Rocky Hill in Franklin Township; Routes 27 and 1 in South Brunswick Township; the Princeton-Cranbury Road near Plainsboro; Route 535 in Cranbury; and Routes 130 and 33 in East Windsor.

Publication of a map indicating the projected route, and designation of a date for the public hearing are both major steps forward in the campaign that began more than a decade ago for creation of the by-pass. Allocation of the millions of dollars involved is entirely another matter, however, and numerous officials close to the problem have said that "the State Highway Department gives the Princeton-Hightstown bypass a very low priority rating because of the relatively low traffic count in comparison to other areas in congested New Jersey."

WESTMINSTER AGREES To Sell Part of Land. In an agreement concluded on Easter afternoon at 4 o'clock, Westminster Choir College and the Borough Board of Education came to terms on the sale of 14 acres of Choir College land bordered by Walnut Lane and Franklin Avenue. The amount in dollars was not disclosed.

There are about 20 acres in the entire plot. The plan, negotiated by the two institutions in a series of meetings beginning in January, would enable the Borough Board to realize its plans for a public education center, and simultaneously allow the proposed development program announced by Westminster.

After Borough and Township authorities have approved street alignments and other details, the plan will be submitted to the Trustees of the Choir College for ratification. Then the Board will present the plan to Borough voters for ratification.

Originally, the Board wanted the entire Westminster plot. However, as a result of the new agreement, the Board has decided to investigate the purchase of additional acreage north of the tract from an individual property owner and to include this land in the public referendum also.

"We have worked terribly hard on both sides to achieve this agreement," stated Graham Rohrer, president of the Board. "We argued, debated and reasoned, and we were assisted greatly in our efforts by residents not associated with either the Board or Westminster, but who helped us negotiate out of public spirit."

It's that time of year again, and Saturday night is the time to turn all watches and clocks forward by 60 minutes. If you want to make it absolutely official, wait 'til 2 a.m. Sunday.

Leading up to the weekend, the Man said he had a good deal of the best of spring weather in store. Thursday will be fair and warm; showers are a brief possibility Friday, with clearing and delightfully mild weather scheduled for Saturday and Sunday. Scheduled, anyway.

JAILED AS RAPIST

After Police Hunt. After an investigation that took only a scant two weeks, Borough and Township police last week arrested John A. Smallwood, 36, formerly of 39 Leigh Avenue, now of Trenton, on charges of abduction and rape.

Smallwood, whose crime took him into two municipalities within a matter of hours, was arraigned last Wednesday by Township Magistrate James Hill after Det. Sgt. Fred Porter of the Township police charged him with abduction of a female with intent to defile.

The following day, Smallwood was brought before Borough Magistrate Theodore Toms and arraigned on a charge of rape. He was committed to the Mercer County Jail without bail to await grand jury action.

Township police were called at 1 a.m. on April 4 to investigate the abductio and rape of a 22-year old woman who had

WE OPEN IN MC CARTER

With "Anything Goes." It's Cole Porter weekend in McCarter, with the P.J.&B. production of "Anything Goes" ready to open this Friday at 8:30 and to play matinee (2:30) and evening performances this Saturday. The musical will be given again on Friday and Saturday, May 11 and 12, at 8:30.

Back in the '30's when "Anything Goes" first saw the lights of Broadway, it ran up more than 400 performances, due largely to its parade of Porter tunes: "I Get A Kick Out Of You," "All Through the Night," "Blow, Gabriel, Blow," "You're the Top," and of course, the title song.

Milton Lyon is directing and Hugh Hardy providing the sets. Reservations may be made by calling McCarter, WA 1-8700. Group rates are available for parties of 25 or more.

IT'S A MYSTERY

PCD Play This Weekend. "Ten Little Indians," the mystery classic by Agatha Christie, will be given by the Dramatic Club of Princeton Country Day School this Friday and Saturday at 8:15 in the school auditorium.

Herbert McAneny, of the school faculty, is the director and Gary Gott is the supervisor of scenic design. The cast includes Gerald Cameron, Bruner Diethenn, William Hereford, Paul Vogel, Thomas Farley, Kevin Kennedy, William Sayen, Philip Sherwood, Bradley Smith, Ray Colcord and Fraser MacLeod. Stephen Goheen is understudy.

Warren Elmer and Terry Marzoni are in charge of scenery construction.

The school band, directed by Sylvan Friedman, and the Glee Club under Mrs. Frank Marks, will also perform.

FINAL PLAY HERE

In Children's Series. "Niccolo and Nicolette," an English play based on a French fairy tale, will be the final offering in the Children's Entertainment Series sponsored by the Borough PTA.

It will be given in McCarter Tuesday, May 8, at 3:30. Tickets, at 60 cents, $1 and $1.50, may be reserved with Mrs. W. V. ONeil, 115 Lafayette Road between 1 and 3 p.m. weekdays.

"Niccolo and Nicollette" was judged the best play for children in the 1960-61 season by the Children's Theatre Conference in New York.

Beginning in a toyshop and ending in a magician's workshop, it tells the story of a handsome prince, the spell woven about him by a magician and a happy ending brought about by logic and a belief in the goodness of mankind. The Equity Library Theatre will present the offering in McCarter.

IT'S ME, RENO SWEENEY: The role that Ethel Merman created in Cole Porter's "Anything Goes" will be taken by Anne Sheldon when the P. J. & B. musical opens this Friday in McCarter. Mrs. Sheldon was last year's highly successful Adelaide in "Guys and Dolls" and also appeared on the McCarter stage during the current season in the three Thornton Wilder one-act plays and "Our Town." STUDENTS TO PERFORM

In State-Wide Festival. Young actors, dancers, singers, musicians and composers from all over the state will converge on McCarter Theatre on Wednesday, May 9, for the first New Jersey High School Performing Arts Festival. McCarter hopes to make the event an annual one.

Registration will begin at 3 in the theatre lobby, with members of the theatre staff, the Princeton University faculty and the State Department of Education present to greet the participants.

The drama festival will start at 3:30, and will include "The Lottery," performed by New Brunswick High School players, and the winner from the Rider College theatre competition.

At 4:45, the Princeton High School Choir will sing, the Freehold Regional High School will give "Bastien and Bastienne," a one-act opera, and the Pascack Regional High School concert wind ensemble will present student compositions.

A banquet will be held in Madison Hall, the University campus, at 6:15. Alan S. Downer, of the department of English, Princeton, and Frederick S. Rauhinger, commissioner of education for the state, will be guest speakers.

Drama and related projects will conclude the festival at 7:30, with John Lithgow, a student apprentice at McCarter, presenting a scene from the recent Princeton High School production of "Noah." Other performers will include students of St. Bernard's School who will give a choral reading of a poem by Robert Frost, and members of the Hamilton West High School who will present scenes from "Pygmalion."

NUTCRACKERS, COWBOYS

Both In Rehearsal. Music by Tschaikowsky and Aaron Copland will provide for the dancers in the Princeton Ballet Society's spring production to be held in McCarter Saturday, May 19, at 8:30 and Sunday, May 20, at 3.

The complete "Nutcracker" and a shorter ballet, "Corral," to music from Aaron Coplan's "Rodeo" will be given by the Society. About 170 dancers will perform in the Tschaikowsky and a small group of older girls will dance "Corral."

Under the direction of Audree Estey, the Ballet Society has produced spring ballets for 14 years, including "Hansel and Gretel," "Sleeping Beauty," "Cinderella," "Graduation Ball," "Peter and the Wolf" and "Coppelia."

Tickets for the Saturday evening performance are $2 up to $3.50. For the Sunday matinee, they are $2 and $2.75 for adults and $1 and $1.50 for children. All seats are reserved and may be purchased by calling WA 1-7255.

THE PLAYHOUSE

The Man Who Shot Liberty Valance (April 25-May 1) is a solid story Western, directed by John Ford and starring James Stewart and John Wayne. It concerns the battle for statehood, which marked the opening of the old wild west, and revolves around the lives of three persons: Stewart, a young lawyer who comes west and meets violence, ruthlessness and a gun-slinging hoodlum; Wayne, an honest, quiet rancher who befriends Stewart; and Vera Miles, a pretty, illiterate waitress in the cafe at Shinbone. The vicious, big-rancher inspired attacks of Liberty Valance, played to the hilt by Lee Marvin of TV fame, trigger the action.

Others in the cast include Edmund O'Brien, as the drinking, but crusading editor; and Andy Devine, as the fat, bumbling town marshall. Comment: a Western with a "difference."

Cape Fear (May 2-8) is a nail-biting tale of terror. Directed by J. Lee Thompson, of "Guns of Navarone" fame, and based on the novel "The Executioners" by John D. McDonald, the film has an overlay of menace and ruthless revenge that should attract all lovers of horror stories.

The story is brutally simple: an ex-convict seeks revenge against the witness whose testimony jailed him. Gregory Peck is the witness, Polly Bergen plays his wife and young Lori Martin (of the TV show "National Velvet") is their daughter. Robert Mitchum, as the ex-convict, sets out with calculated malice of the most vicious and ruthless sort, to stalk his prey: Peck, his wife, and especially the young daughter.

Peck seeks the aid of the police, but there is nothing that can be done to stop Mitchum, who commits no overt act yet keeps on his intended victims an unrelenting pressure. Finally, Peck develops a scheme which involves hiding his wife and daughter away on a small houseboat and adjoining cabin on the lake front at lonely Cape Fear. From there on, it is pure terror every step of the way.

The entire cast does an excellent job. The performance of Mitchum is especially noteworthy. He is like a wary, predatory animal on the prowl after his prey. Comment: a real chiller.

THE GARDEN

Le Belle Americaine (April 25-May 1) is a frolicsome farce about a French laborer, Marcel, who through a stroke of good luck, buys a glossy Cadillace convertible for 500 new francs ($100). Dubbed "La Belle Americaine," the convertible causes endless confusion and consternation. Most confused of all is Marcel.

The comedy was written and directed by Robert Dhery, who with Colette Brosset, presented the rollicking revue, "La Plume de Ma Taute" on Broadway not long ago. Dhery also plays the role of Marcel in the film; Miss Brosset is Pauline, Marcel's high-tempered wife, and Louis de Funes takes on two screamingly funny small parts. Comment: French music hall stuff, complete with dog act. English subtitles.

The Pure Hell of St. Trinian's (May 2-5) spoofs the girls to a fare-the-well, and tops its predecessors "The Girls of St. Trinian's" and "Blue Murder at St. Trinian's."

The girls of the St. Trinian's boarding school have burned down their school, the story begins, and they somehow (only in the movies) are sent on a cultural tour of the Greek islands, accompanied by professor Cecil Parker and policewoman Joyce Grenfell. Then along comes George Cole whose mission is to get the girls into a harem somewhere.

The cast is talented, and the comedy finely wrought. Comment: escapist entertainment.

Intime Play to Open

"Look Back in Anger," the work of British playwright John Osborn, will open this Thursday in Murrey Theatre as a Theatre Intime production.

Osborn is classified as one of England's "angry young men" whose works have created widespread attention. The play has had successful runs in both London and New York.

"Look Back in Anger" will run Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week and again from May 2 through 5. Tickets may be reserved by calling WA 1-6600, ext. 2010, between 8 and 10 p.m.

IT'S NEW To Us

SUMMER AND SMOKE

New Range Solves Both. Smoke, heat, the gentle saute of an onion or the burble of boiling cabbage are all eliminated swiftly by the mechanism of a new air-conditioned range called the Jenn-Air now waiting for you at Kitchen World, in the 206 Shopping Center.

Jenn-Air is a 30-inch lung built-in electric stove with four burners all in a row (no rear burners) and a lid that opens up like a box-top to an angle of about 85 degrees.

Along the top of this lid is a slot. Heat, smoke and odors from cooking food are sucked right into the slot and away, before you have time to know they've been there.

This eliminates the need for a hood, as you can see. Duct work carries the fumes down and out, either through pipe work into your basement, or through the outside wall. The power unit is in the rear, under the countertop, set high so that it doesn't take up space you might want to use for something else.

When you have finished cooking, you close the lid and cover the burners, thereby giving yourself some extra counter-top spcae.

Jenn-Air lends itself well to peninsular or island arrangements within a kitchen because no hood is required.

And while we're talking about kitchen arrangements, wait'll you see Kitchen World's one-inch scale cabinets and counters, dozens of them, ready for you to move like furniture in a doll house, until you see the exact arrangement you want in your own kitchen. Much more graphic than a two-dimensional floor-plan, and besides, it's just like playing dolls again.

While you're planning that kitchen, you might consider one of the most dramatic counter systems we've seen in some time—the Sned-dette wall-hung furniture group that ranges inward slanting cabinets above the floor, providing space for baseboard heating, an easier cleaning situation and a lot more drama than and ever thought a modern kitchen could have.

You don't lose space with these cabinets, as you might think at first, because each one has two complete, full shelves instead of the shelf-and-a-half in depth which you find in many kitchen cabinets.

If you're building something in, a cabinet, consider Westinghouse's new Terrace Top stove, with the two front burners set on a terrace about two inches below the back two burners. Easier to stir things when they're a bit lower, Westinghouse says.

Are You Blue?

Whether you are blue or yellow may depend on whether your kitchen faces north or south or whether your tastes face east or west.

Kitchen World, in the Route 206 Shopping Center, is planning to install Formica's color-picking unit some time in mid-May, and when you confront this unit, you will find that your color-choosing problems vanish.

Pick out the general color you like—blue, yellow, or whatever — for your counter tops, and see how many different patterns Formica offers you in each color. Then, look at the harmonizing colors arranged to go with your choice, and you'll find that you can see at a glance what shade would be best for your kitchen floor and wall colors. Egg-yolk yellow? Burnt toast brown? Hamburger red? Spilled milk white?

SWEATERS, IN BULK

Or Slim. Mohair has been used in all its light-weight bulk to produce a fine collection of sweaters at Clayton's, starting at $10.65 and going up to $15.95.

A short, curved edge cardigan, without buttons, is white, lined with a nylon sheer that makes it comfortable to wear over a sleeveless sheath. A wool boucle in creamy white has tiny self buttons and three-quarter sleeves and a very white orlon has a narrow grosgrain binding and grosgrain ball buttons.

A hook at the collar keeps things neat for an Angel Floss bulky in turquoise or gold with a wide front band and three-quarter sleeves.

Our favorite isn't bulky at all, but sleekly knit of white orlon. One-inch wide navy ribbons march down the front rigat next to narrow red and white ribbons the whole line of march making a parade almost the full width of the bodice. There is a narrow red ribbon all around the bottom.

This tricolor combination is very popular, as you know, and Clayton's can offer belts, pocketbooks and scarves in as much red-white-and-blue as you like.

Barbizon provides for ladies who will be hospitalized in warm weather with a Blendaire bed-jacket in pink or blue, cool yet covered, with elbow push-up sleeves and a lace-edged collar.

Other Blendaire garments include a white waltz gown with demure blue and pink flowers and a smocked collar, and a Liberty-style print with raspberry and cream flowers. This one has gathered puff sleeves and a round neck.

Barbizon also has a robe or two, and you'll welcome the coolness of a peach print polished cotton with "satin" bands around the collar. (Comes in lime, too).

From another house, Clayton presents a short coachman pique robe in a raspberry or blue print with solid piping.

Bounteous place-mats—we're moving to another department, if you don't mind—are textured vinyl watermelons, grapefruit, oranges and grapes, dazzlingly colored, pleasing in their roughness, and wonderfully cheery for summer. Can you think of anything gayer than eating half a grapefruit off half a grapefruit?

Other mats are more sedate

NO OPEN SHIRT

For This Folk Singer. Richard Dyer-Bennet, one of the first of the post-World War II singers, is also one of the most unassuming. He disdains the open-shirted approach of many of his colleagues, and he has impeccable technique and taste.

With white tie and tails and guitar, the folk singer will come to McCarter Theatre this Sunday at 3 as the final guitarist in the McCarter series devoted to that instrument.

Tickets are on sale at the McCarter box-office, or may be reserved by calling WA 1-8700.

TRIBAL DRUMS TO BEAT in Alexander Hall. Nigerian drummer Olatunji and his company will bring native folk chants, tribal dances, and the complex beat of African drums to Alexander Hall at 8 p.m. this Friday.

In a bit of Africa distilled, the group will perform the graceful and elegant Watusi dances, the Fanga, the welcome dance of Liberian tribesmen, the Ebo Ordance of strength, the Mask Dance with festival masks, and the stirring Balakoto, in which dancers and drummers challenge each other in a succession of intricate steps and rhythms.

Michael Babatunde Olatunji, a candidate for Ph.D. in public administration at N.Y.U., first appeared several seasons ago at Radio City Music Hall as a soloist. He has performed with his company in lecture hall, concerts, at major jazz festivals and has recorded two albums, "Drums of Passion" and "Afro Percussion," for Columbia records. Today Olatunji is the leading exponent of authentic African music in this country.

The concert will benefit the Princeton Chapter of the Pan African Students Organization of the Americas, an organization designed to foster understanding of African culture.

Learned As a Child. Olatunji, as a child in Lagos, was exposed early to the music of two cultures. Drums were used in church during services, and the hymns, "Onward Christian Soldier," "Rock of Ages" and others all had an African orientation.

He came to this country in 1950 on a Rotary international scholarship and it was through the prodding of his fellow students that he began his public appearances. His name, itself, is an echo of his native land. Born after his father's death, he was named Olatunji, which means "honor and wealth are being revived in the family," and Babatunde, which means "the father who had died has come back in my person."

A reception for the African students at Princeton and the Olatunji troupe will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John K. Hemphill of Princeton-Kingston Road, following the concert. Joining the Hemphills as hosts will be Mr. and Mrs. William Duryee and Mr. and Mrs. John Nero.

The Theatre offers youngsters between the ages of 9 and 16 the chance to take part in the shows as singers, dancers and actors, and to work behind the scenes on props, costumes and makeup. In conjunction with the theatre, a program in creative dramatics will be given for boys and girls aged 5 through 8 three mornings a week.

Mrs. Lowell Swatzwell, Douglass instructor in speech and dramatic arts, is in charge of the project. Tuitions for the six weeks are $150, plus $10 non-refundable registration fee for the older group, and $40 for the small children.

Applications may be secured by writing Secretary, The Children's Summer Theatre, Douglass College, New Brunswick.

PIANIST TO PLAY

At New School. Elmer Heerema, pianist, will perform in recital next Friday, May 4, at 8 at the New School for Music Study, 353 Nassau Street. The recital is open to the public.

A teaching Fellow at the New School and a lecturer in a nationwide series of music workshops with the Frances Clark Library, Mr. Heerema was graduated in 1961 from Westminster Choir College. He has been a piano student of Elvina Truman, supervisor of private instruction in the New School's Junior Department.

For his program, Mr. Heerema has chosen two preludes and fugues by Shostakovich, four short pieces by Brahms, selections from Milhaud's Saudades do Brazil and the Haydn Piano Concerto in D Major.

TO PLAY STUDENT WORK

In Final Concert. An "Introduction and Allegro" by Mark DeVoto, graduate student in composition in the music department of Princeton University, will be performed this Sunday when the Princeton University Orchestra under Nicholas Harsanyi gives its final concert of the current season.

The concert will be given at 3:30 in Alexander Hall with the sponsorship of the Friends of Music and it will be open to the public without charge.

In addition to Mr. DeVoto's composition, the orchestra will play the overture to "Iphigenia in Aulis" by Gluck, the Concerto No. 2 in E Flat Major, K. 417 for Horn and Orchestra by Mozart with Ronald Goldenson, '64, as soloist and the Polovtsian Dances from "Prince Igor" by Borodin.

Mr. Goldenson, the horn soloist, has studied the French horn for seven years. A premedical student and a member of the Art department, Mr. Goldenson still finds time to play in the Westchester Symphony Orchestra and the Princeton Symphony, as well as in the Princeton University Orchestra.

PIANIST WILL PLAY

Bach, Beethoven, Brahms. Stephen Prusiin, pianist, will appear in recital next Wednesday at 8:30 in Clio Hall under the auspices of the Friends of Music.

The young graduate student, who is at present studying theory in the department of music, will offer a program consisting of works by Bach, Beethoven and Brahms. He will play the Partita No. 4 in D Major by Bach, the Sonata No. 28 in A Major, Opus 101, by Beethoven and the Sonata No. 3 in F Minor, Opus 5 by Brahms.

A summa cum laude graduate of Brandeis with the class of 1961, Mr. Prusiin studied piano with Luise Vosgerchian and gave many recitals while under her tutelage. He also performed in the Brandeis Chamber Music Series.

He was awarded the Ernest Bloch Memorial Prize in Music and a Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship for graduate study in Princeton. At present, he is studying piano with Edward Steuermann.

Music In Princeton

Music, Mr. Prusiin's recital will be open to the public without charge.

TO PRESENT NEW WORK

By Princeton Composer. "The Seasons," a cantata written by the Princeton composer Frank Lewin for Miss Fine's School, will be given by the school on Sunday, May 6, at 3:30.

Mr. Lewin has used the poetry of Thomas Nash, Elizabethan poet, setting it to music designed for the wide range of age and ability represented by a school chorus. His instrumental interludes are in short dance forms.

Fadlou Shehadi will be the baritone soloist. Several members of the Miss Fine's faculty and University students will join the instrumental ensemble in presenting the work. Singers and instrumentalists from the Middle and Upper School will be the performers.

CHOIR TO SING

From "Singing City" Members of the Singing City Choir of Philadelphia will perform in Westminster Choir College Chapel next Wednesday at 8, drawing on a varied repertoire which includes Bach, Stravinsky, Hindu liturgical chants and folk melodies

The choir is the core unit in a complex of numerous choruses in the Philadelphia area. Founded and directed by Elaine Brown, former faculty member at Westminster, the choir has performed with such musical organizations as the Philadelphia Orchestra, the Bach Aria Group and the Robin Hood Dell Orchestra. It has also appeared on the Ed Sullivan show and the Dave Garroway "Today" program.

98 NASSAU ST.

Dressmakers who like Liberty prints may buy any of a dozen at $2.25 a yard, or a Powderpuff muslin imitating a Liberty for $1. Can't lose, either way.

After you've examined the embroidered linens, the flax-rayon-cotton combination that looks like natural homespun, or the linen prints in checks and flowers, don't forget the trimming department, where Clayton's has those fold-over bands you'll need to trim a Chanel jacket, or the colorful printed plaid trims that can edge a dress or a curtain with equal felicity.

SCHUMACHER'S HERE

At Home Furnishings. Only 1,000 copies have been printed of the Schumacher "By Appointment" album of wallpapers and correlated fabrics, and one of them is at the Home Furnishings establishment, 41 Witherspoon.

These papers and fabrics must be bought through a decorator, and they are never to be shown in the company's show-rooms, so a visit to Witherspoon Street will reward you with some pretty exclusive patterns.

For spring and summer decorating, the shop has a breezy collection of sheer linens, floral prints and cottons. A pair of floor-length drapes might be made from a sheer linen panel in oyster with lime, emerald and white flowers, made with a deep border that tapers as it grows until a single flower stalk reaches for the top.

Realism appears in two cotton fabrics. One displays purple lilacs and green leaves against white, and another shows you what is almost a color photograph of that good old decorating standby of many years back, the American beauty rose and its green leaves.

Greef's American Legacy II, is a volume of 18th and 19th century fabrics, some taken from the Henry Ford Museum in Detroit, all of them authentic Americana.

The formality of a Queen Anne silk damask called "Savery" contrasts with the countrified airs of "Straw Floral," and the boldness of "Independence" with its eagle motif.

A BOWL FROM TOWLE

From LaVake. Towle's bowl is a small, seal-black one resting on a narrow silver circle and made for salad, peanuts, popcorn or soup, but not for baking. $7.50 at LaVake, Nassau Street.

The current fancy for vermeil is evident in a set of sterling demi-tasse spoons with handles that are completely floral, bowl to stem. Silver appears with its own true face in a wide, simple bowl with gently scalloped border, rather like Mr. Revere in a less severe mood.

In the LaVake jewelry case, there is an unusual antiqued silver bracelet from Peru with one-inch square links engraved with a llama and a Peruvian woman. In the same handmade Peruvian collection are an even deeper bracelet along the same lines, and a pleasing group of earrings with Peruvian figures in low relief, some in a modern free form, others more traditional in design.

One of the spring pleasures of a visit to LaVake's is to watch young turtle-doves while they pick out an engagement or wedding ring, budget in mind and heart on sleeve. Melts the thickest and most cynical crust.

been forced into a car about 11 p.m. that night as she was walking along a road.

According to police, she was abducted in the Township and then carried on a 28-mile circuitous ride and eventually raped in the Borough.

Smallwood was picked up as a suspect after the victim had tentatively identified him from a photograph. The description of the car used in the crime also fitted the description of Smallwood's car. Although he denied the crime at first, he later admitted his involvement, police said.

Det. Sgt. Porter, Sgt. John F. Petrone, Patrolmen Michael Kopliner and Howard Sweeney of the Township force and Det. Arthur Gallant of the Borough cooperated in the investigation.

Rape carries a maximum penalty of $5,000 or 15 years in prison or both. The maximum penalty for abduction is $2,000 fine or seven years in jail or both.

WILLIAM RHODES NAMED Assistant to Superintendent. William H. Rhodes, Principal of Princeton High School for the past nine years, has been appointed Assistant to the Superintendent and Secretary to the Borough Board of Education. He will assume his new duties at the start of the 1962-63 school year.

The move was prompted by the Board of Education's intention of adding general administrative assistance to both the Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Chester R. Stroup, and the Board itself. Both Dr. Stroup and the Board felt that Mr. Rhodes was qualified by virtue of his training and experience in the school system.

Mr. Rhodes in a graduate of Waynesburg College and holds an MA in Administration from the University of Pennsylvania. He came to PHS in 1942 as a biology teacher. In 1949, he was named assistant principal and then served as principal from 1953 to the present.

DOGS: MAY 31 Ordinance Is Introduced. Township Committee introduced the new dog ordinance Monday night and, remembering the SRO experience of the last public hearing, scheduled the new hearing for Valley Road School auditorium. It will be held Thursday, May 31 at 8 p.m.

The new ordinance, nailed together in final form during a 50-minute public work session Monday night, is designed to meet the problem with as little law as necessary.

Its core lies in the stipulation that a dog owner may not let his dog off his property, unless the dog is the direct control of a responsible person. Committee is reluctant to require "fence," "muzzle" or "leash" and does not plan to, unless the ordinance proves unworkable without these restraints.

The problem of a shelter remains acute. Estimated cost of a 20-30 dog shelter is about $15-20,000 according to Committeeman John S. Mount, and the annual maintenance about $8-10,000.

Township may build a shelter to be run by the Small Animal Rescue League, and may construct one with Borough assistance. Dr. Russell S. Edmonds, whose kennels have served the Rescue League for many years, has told the League and Committee that another shelter will have to be found soon, because of the increasingly heavy demands on his kennel.

Politics and Sewers. Receipt of a petition from 56 residents of Hillside Road—Route 206—Mt. Lucas Road asking for a sewer, sparked a debate on Township sewer policy that continued for close to 90 minutes and assumed, at times the aspect of a political rally. All four candidates for Township Committee were present, and three of them took part in the Hillside vs. Great Road discussions.

"We can't appreciate the magnitude of the problem on Hillside," stated John O. Green, Republican candidate. "I support this petition, and urge that the Hillside people receive as fast and complete relief as Committee has the power to give."

"You say that Hillside and Great Road have equal priority," commented John Hite, Democratic candidate," and yet you build The Great Road first. Hillside is a question of emergency."

Mayor R. Kenneth Fairman then recapitulated the Hillside-Great Road situation, pointing out that financing and engineering problems on The Great Road were relatively simple, but quite a complex for Hillside.

"Has anyone asked the Board of Health to determine the relative emergencies in the two areas?" asked William W. Marvel, the other Democratic candidate. He said that the Ridgeview area of The Great Road sewer at least had pure city water, while Hillside had polluted wells.

He suggested that Committee find out whether wells in the Herrontown Circle area had cleared up once the sewer had been put through. Mr. Mount said he thought this would be a good idea.

Committee then agreed, by voice vote, to apply immediately for federal funds to design a Hillside sewer. Committee has, so far, taken no legal action toward a Great Road sewer.

Mayor Fairman, explaining the financing of The Great Road enterprise, said Our Lady of Princeton had agreed to pay part of its assessment in advance; that Arthur M. Ocheltree had given a verbal agreement to pay in advance and that The Sacred Heart School and the Tenacre Foundation had also been agreeable.

"Within a few months after The Great Road sewer is functioning, Hillside probably will be," said Mayor Fairman.

SCHOLARS NAMED

As Merit Winners. Three Princeton residents have been named National Merit Scholars in the annual awards list released by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

The three students are Wendy R. Coppedge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy F. Coppedge, Jr., Rosedale Road, a student at St. Timothy's School, Maryland; Alan S. Keizer, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Keizer, 732 Kingston Road, a student at Princeton High School and Cynthia H. Westneat, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. Westneat, Canal Road, Griggstown, also a student at Princeton High.

Miss Westreat will attend Antioch to study anthropology and Mr. Keizer will attend Cornell as an engineering student. Miss Coppedge's choice of a college has not been announced.

National Merit Scholars are selected from the finalists in an annual academic competition held in secondary schools throughout the country. Awards range from $100 a year to $1,500 a year and include, as a rule, a grant to the college chosen by the student.

FIVE SHAKEN UP

In Nassau Street Crash. Five resident employees of the Princeton Nurseries, Kingston, were shaken up Friday evening when the car in which they were riding crashed into the rear of a parked car on Nassau Street near Pine.

Injured were Antonio Torres, 23; Rafael Vega, 45; Guam Moreno, 27; Angel Diaz, 24; and Marcial Fuentes, 35. All were taken to Princeton Hospital, treated by Dr. Barton Stevens for minor injuries and released.

The operator of the car, Mr. Fuentes, was charged with careless driving. He told police that he was bothered by lights prior to hitting a parked car owned by Moris Maple and Son. Both cars were extensively damaged.

FOUR FINED

In Traffic Court. Four area motorists were fined in traffic court Monday by Borough Magistrate Theodore T. Tams, Jr.

They are: Mrs. Nadine S. Winn, 44, 160 Sycamore Road, red light violation; Hydia H. Steward, 63, 92 Leigh Avenue, improper turn, both $12; Ronald H. Baker, 28, Carter Road, late inspection; and George M. Dix, 23, 2035 Main Street, Lawrenceville, crossing white line, both $15. Mrs. Winn pleaded not guilty.

Mr. Cohen organized two of Levittown's schools and has served as principal of one of them since 1959. A former instructor at Glassboro and at Pennsylvania State, Mr. Cohen has participated in the development of a mathematics program and in a reorganized reading program. He was chosen for Johnson Park after 28 candidates were considered.

LEAGUE TO MULL STATUS

At Annual Meeting. The Princeton League of Women Voters will consider "area league" status at their annual meeting at 8:30 p.m. this Thursday in the First Presbyterian Church. A supper at 7:15 will precede the session.

Area status, if adopted, would allow the League to take up Borough and Township problems separately. The agenda also includes the adoption of a program for the next two years, election of officers and directors, and submission of the budget.

Mrs. Joseph Hirschberg is chairman of the supper committee, Mrs. Robert Danielson is assistant chairman. Committee members are: Mrs. Matthew Racon, Mrs. C. Harry Kahn, Mrs. Arthur Link, Mrs. Arthur Dreeben, Mrs. Marvin Blumenthal, decorations; and Mrs. J. Vaughan Kristeller, reservations.

REGISTER NEXT WEEK

For Township Kindergarten. Registration for children who will enter kindergarten in the Township will be held next week at several locations.

The location and dates: Valley Road School, Monday; Johnson Park School, Tuesday; Littlebrook School, Wednesday; Riverside, Thursday; and the Stony Brook Administration Building, Friday. Parents may register their children at any school between 8:30 and 2:30. Children who will be 5 by November 30, 1962, are eligible, but a birth certificate or other legal document indicating the child's date of birth will be necessary to complete the registration.

BARTH SERIES TO START

On Sunday. Swiss theologian Karl Barth will give the first of six lectures at 7:45 p.m. Sunday in the University Chapel, opening the second week of the Sesquicentennial celebration of Princeton Theological Seminary.

He will speak through Friday on the theme "Theological Beginnings: An Introduction to Evangelical Theology."

Overflowing crowds attended Monday's convocation and the lectures series, forcing the latter to be moved from McCarter Theatre to the larger University Chapel.

"I am impressed by the numbers and quality of today's seminary students," Moderator Paul D. McKelvy of Los Angeles told the convocation audience, which filled the sanctuary of the First Presbyterian Church and spilled out into the assembly hall.

Also on the program were the Rev. Dr. H. Ganse Little, minister of the Pasadena, Calif., Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Dr. Peter K. Emmons of Stroudsburg, Pa., president of the Seminary's Board of Trustees, Dr. David Hugh Jones, professor of music at the Seminary, and the Rev. Dr. Donald M. Meisel, minister of the First Presbyterian Church.

Lectures to be given during the Sesquicentennial observation are listed in Calendar of the Week, page 15.

What Is 'Open Space'? Committee Provides Some Answers

What is "Open Space," where do we find it and how can we best preserve it? These points have been the subject of discussion by speakers from the Princeton Township Open Space Committee in addressing various Princeton organizations in recent weeks. In preparation for the public hearing at Township Hall on May 3 the committee has provided TOWN TOPICS with the answers to eight typical questions about the proposed program.

1. What is meant by "Open Space" and why is such a program an essential part of Princeton's future?

Open space is simply land that is not built upon, whether woodlands, stream valleys, fields or a scenic strip along a roadway. The alternative to a balanced plan of residential development is to watch the Township suffer the uncontrolled growth to be seen in surrounding areas.

2. How will the open space areas be used?

Some of this land will be set aside for public use to serve the purpose of recreation in an ever-expanding population. There is continuing need for neighborhood park sites, for playfields and for "reservations" which are defined as large peripheral tracts of land which offer greater outdoor use.

But in conjunction with sufficient and appropriate recreational facilities must be the aims of conservation of natural resources; water supply, flood and erosion control and the problems of drainage. Possibly equally important to most residents of the community is the attempt to preserve the scenic beauty of the town and the traditional "Princeton character."

3. How much of the Township acreage should be reserved as "Open Space?"

It has been suggested that a community of this type can well afford to preserve approximately 25% of its acreage in open lands. However, the first stage of the proposal of the Open Space Committee anticipates that 16% of the Township be put to such use, and of this, approximately 45% lies in the flood-plain of Stony Brook and its tributaries that drain the region. A flood-plain ordinance to preclude any construction in these areas is the "back bone" of the plan.

4. Will all Open Space land be owned by the Township and be for public use?

Aside from the parks, playgrounds and reservations, the plan includes areas privately owned but available for public use through the acquirement of certain easements, as for example a walking easement along a stream. Much of this type of land is already put to considerable public use, particularly fishermen along streams, and it is felt that the owner might well benefit if his land were safeguarded under terms of a formal agreement with the municipalities. However, other areas fulfill the aesthetic and conservation purposes of the plan if they remain in private ownership with the owner guaranteeing their preservation through granting the Township the development rights.

5. What provision will be made for maintenance of Open Areas?

Measures to maintain parks and recreation areas are already incorporated into the Open Space proposal with the requisite man-hours prescribed for policing and clearing of litter.

6. What can a property owner, relinquishing development rights in his land, hope for in tax savings?

Under New Jersey assessment practice, it would appear that every consideration would be given to lowered assessments because of differences in market value between developable and undevelopable land. It also is to be considered that outright gifts of land may qualify as tax deductions under present federal tax laws.

7. What economic benefits can the Township hope for from such a program?

The Committee points to an analysis by Committee member Lyle Fitch which compares the cost of municipal services to residential properties in different zones with the tax income derived therefrom. This comparison indicates that there can be definite economic advantages in preserving certain suitable properties as "Open Space."

8 Is such an Open Space program a matter of immediate concern?

With the population of Borough and Township estimated to total 35,000 to 40,000 by 1975 and with the possibility in the Township alone of 3,600 new dwellings, the Committee feels that action on an Open Space program is of immediate concern before time and land run out.

Topics Of The Town

Whitwell, chairman of the building's planning committee.

The block will contain various memorabilia, including University catalogs, copies of TOWN TOPICS and other Princeton, state and metropolitan newspapers, a book "Engineering and Human Affairs," published in 1946, Princeton's bicentennial year, and a history of engineering at Princeton authored by Kenneth H. Condit, dean emeritus of the School.

Guided tours of the new quadrangle are scheduled to begin at 3 p.m. Covering some six acres, the building will house the departments of chemical, civil, electrical, geological and mechanical engineering, as well as the plastics laboratory and the computer center. The department of aeronautical engineering will have office space in the quadrangle, but the bulk of its operation will continue to be conducted at the University's James Forrestal Center.

LIBRARY NEAR JACKSON?

To Explore Site. The possibility of a new public library on part of the Borough-owned land facing Witherspoon and realigned Jackson Street will be explored in disussions between Borough authorities and Thaddeus Longstreth, architect retained by the trustees of the public library.

The land in question is now occupied, in part, by the building housing the engineering department, the United Fund and the Girl Scouts. It was formerly the YMCA. Borough-owned land would presumably lie on both sides of the new Jackson Street, fronting on Witherspoon.

BOARD NAMES HEAD

For English Department. Allen R. Kirschner of Greenwich, Connecticut, has been named chairman of the English Department at Princeton High School.

For eight years, Mr. Kirschner has been teaching junior and senior high school classes and working with an advanced placement program in English. Part of his responsibility at Princeton will be the establishment of such a program.

A graduate of the University of Colorado, Mr. Kirschner is a candidate for the doctorate at New York University. He and his wife, who is director of a nursery school in Greenwich, are the parents of two sons.

SEMINAR PLANNED

On Africa Today. "Current Concerns in Africa" is the theme of the annual May Day Observance of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Trenton Alumnae Chapter to be held at the "Y," Avalon Place, next Sunday, May 6 at 4 p.m.

The sorority will present students from Africa who are now studying in Princeton, and will ask them to discuss the current concerns in their own countries.

During 1961 and 1962, the Trenton chapter has sent donations of books to Ghana as part of its library assistance program. It has also provided books to the children of migrant farmers in New Jersey.

WILSON CLUB TO MEET

For Spring Program. The Wilson College Club of Trenton-Princeton will meet this Thursday at 8 at the home of Mrs. Roger Evans, Farm Road, Hampton Hills.

A demonstration of Japanese flower arrangements will be given by Mrs. Edwin Good. Plans will be made for a tea for prospective students in May and for a picnic in June.

WHAT'S A DUTCH AUCTION?

A Dutch Auction is a gamble to buy merchandise inexpensively but risking losing the purchase should another bid higher. Items are priced on the first day of the auction and their price is reduced a set amount daily until purchased. Anyone can bid a lower figure than marked, and if item is not sold when bidder's figure is reached, bidder will get it. Anyone can buy the item at the price marked that day, and this negates any previous lower bids. For example, a slide projector will be offered at $97 the first day with the notation that its price will be reduced $3 daily. You can buy it at $97, or hope it won't be bought for three days. So, you would bid $88 on this first day. If projector hasn't been bought by the time the price reaches $88, or if no one had bid higher than $88, the projector is yours.

An easy to use and completely automatic Starmatic Camera Kit will start at $29 and be reduced 50c daily.

A Dejur zoom, electric eye movie camera with back lighting feature will start at $149 and be reduced $3 daily.

An Argus President slide projector with remote control will start at $125 and be reduced $4 daily.

"Confucius Say . . ."

To the Editor of Town Topics:

In reading the recent issues of Town Topics, one could not help but come to the somewhat comical realization that there has been a little war going around here in Princeton, and a not too cold one at that concerning about the subject of musical critic sm. As one who was suddenly awakened in the quiet of a suburban motif by two neighbors shouting ferociously at each other, the former would quite naturally react by cautiously but politely ask the latter, "What this fuss is all about?"

After having read and re-read these letters to the Editors and their rejoinders, and after having begun to realize what the furor is all about I may venture to offer an interpretation of the nature of the basic conflicts. Since the days of Socrates and Plato, the entire Western civilization has been frantically searching after The Truth namely, what is the answer, the right answer, with the hope that once that is found, the men of the West may conveniently throw the rest into the wastepaper basket with the label "wrong answers."

It also seems to me that one of the main issues of the recent Battle of Princeton over musical critic ism consists of the music critic's defending himself, in saying that he had the "right answer," and all the other correspondents' (with few exceptions) replying in kind that he had the "wrong answer."

On the other hand, one of my ancestors who was distantly related to Confucius once said, long, long time ago, that to any given problem there might have been several answers, just as right and just as wrong at the same time, all depending upon where you were standing at or looking from.

To return to the matter of musical criticism, it cannot be emphasized too strongly that to listen to a concert or to any musical performance, anyone is entitled to an opinion, but not the opinion, of what he or she perceived with his or her musical ears, be he or she a music critic, a maestro, a musicologist, or what not. Just as no two artists perform in the same way," no two music critics criticize the music in the same way.

Therefore in order to read music criticism, and still to be able to enjoy music, whether before or after reading the criticism (since there is such a thing called "after-taste," even in music), one has to learn that it only represents one opinion, and not the opinion.

Be that as it may, I would like to suggest a few possibilities as to how to get out of this dilemma of confusion and more confusion:

(1) That Town Topics experiment by occasionally publishing at least two musical criticisms of certain performances so that the readers may be benefited by seeing at least one Pro and one Con.

(2) That Town Topics have a panel of music critics for some of the musical performances, to be selected experimentally for this purpose, with the panelists to be chosen from a list of volunteers, but to be limited to a certain small number such as three, five, or seven, in order to have a Majority Report and a Minority Report, if necessary, so as to take into consideration the various points of view. From the large number of letters to the Editor on this subject alone in the past several weeks, and from the high quality of musical criticisms represented by the very nature of the controversies brought out in these letters, I certainly do not think there is any lack of informed public on music in this Princeton community).

If any of the above suggestions is adopted, laborious and time-consuming it may seem, I believe Town Topics would have initiated a new tradition in the history of musical criticisms in the United States.

After all, the purpose of listening to music is to achieve a certain sense of tranquility which unfortunately is lost in this furor of who criticizes whom, on what and when.

Of course, what I offered is only one opinion, not the opinion.

SUMMER CAMP READY

For Retarded Children. An outdoor program for special children, featuring swimming, handcraft, games and music, will be operated this year from July 9 to August 17 by the Mercer Unit of the New Jersey Association for Retarded Children.

Registration will be limited to 50 and is open to those attending public or private schools. A fee of $10 will cover bus transportation on a route outside of Trenton and another bus on a route within Trenton.

The Camp will be under the direction of a professional teacher and will be divided into three groups: Pre-school, 7-12 year olds, and older children. Each group will have its own classroom.

Because of insurance, parents who wish to enroll their children must become dues-paying members of the Mercer Unit, at $3 per year. Interested parents may apply to Mrs. Kennett Love WA 4-3208. Deadline is May 15.

CLOTWORTHY CHAIRMAN

For YMCA Rodeo Tickets. Robert Clotworthy, swimming coach at Princeton University has been named advance sale ticket chairman in this area for the rodeo, to be held May 18 and 19 at Princeton Airport. The Central New Jersey YMCA Campus Professional Rodeo is approved by the Rodeo Cowboys Association of Denver, and will be produced here through Kammler Buick-Pontiac Company.

Boys and girls between 8 and 15 are eligible to earn a variety of prizes. The five who sell the most tickets will be able to attend the Y camp free for ten weeks, and the top salesman, in addition, will receive a trophy, ride in the grand entry parades and be admitted free to all three performances. Those selling 20 tickets will be admitted free to one performance.

Over 10,000 tickets have been distributed in Mercer County, New Brunswick and Metuchen, the areas served by the camps. In Princeton, Mr. Clotworthy is working with Edward Hornor, YMCA youth director, in giving tickets to young people. Those interested in selling tickets should get in touch with the Y office on Avalon Place.

There will be three performances of the rodeo: Friday evening, May 18, and Saturday afternoon and evening, May 19.

SCULPTORS COLLABORATE

On Single Statue. Two Princeton sculptors have joined forces with a third from New York City to create a statue of a mother and child large enough for a child to fall asleep in.

The unusual assignment and joining of highly individualistic talents has brought together Dorothea Greenbaum and Robert Cook, both of Princeton, and Sidney Simon of New York in a situation of singular harmony in Mrs. Greenbaum's studio on Mercer Street.

Their work will be seen in the motion picture "David and Liza" now being filmed in Philadelphia, starring Howard deSilva. One of the climactic scenes is built around a small boy, lost in the Philadelphia Art Museum, who is finally found asleep in the arms of a larger-than-life statue.

The sculptors have settled their respective responsibilities amicably. Mrs. Greenbaum is concentrating on the design; Mr. Cook handles the armature and Mr. Simon is molding the wire framing. All three will then model in plaster, with Mrs. Greenbaum assigned to the mother's face.

The three artists are internationally known. Mrs. Greenbaum, one of America's most prominent women artists and winner of many awards, is represented in the Whitney Museum of American Art, the Brookgreen Gardens Museum, S. C.; the Museum of Moscow, the Batimore Museum, and Newark Museum. She is a founder of Artists Equity Association.

Question of the Week

Question: A special faculty committee at Yale University has recommended that a substantial number of women be admitted as undergraduates in the future. Do you think Princeton University should do the same?

Where asked: Palmer Square.

Steven Kaplan, 1901 Hall, University junior: The presence of women on campus would provide much opportunity for diversionary frolicing and cavorting. There is definitely a dearth of womenhood on campus. However, due to the proximity of Douglass, Rider and Trenton State, as well as sundry other institutions, perhaps it would be best to restrict the scholarly and frigid type to Yale.

Brian Loftus, Henry Hall, University junior: No — first of all, tradition. Second, and more important, I think it would lead to a lowering of academic standards; standards would drop vastly. I also feel there would be an increase in campus marriages and subsequent dormitory problems.

Robert Wilson, Foulke Hall, University junior: No. I think the social advantages wouldn't outweigh the academic advantages of being a relatively quiet campus. Maybe the administration could run a sister college a few miles away.

Miss Gun Svedberg, Griggstown: No. I think Princeton's "men only" is a nice tradition to keep as is. I feel the girls can attend the top women's colleges like Smith and leave Princeton alone. Princeton would never be the same.

Frank Keefer, Nassau Estates, foreign language department, Princeton University: Personally no. It's a man's institution and I think there should be institutions for the men exclusively and likewise for the female, and there should also be available for the public's choice a coed institution, thereby giving everyone a free choice. I think the admission of women would add a lot of expense to the University. The whole physical plant would have to be divided into women's and men's sections and that would be very expensive inasmuch as the University wasn't designed for that purpose originally.

Allen Porter, Gauss Hall, University junior: No, I think it would tend to destroy the casual, residential, male college atmosphere which is more conducive to work. The social aspect of it would depend on how many women "substantial" means.

Richard C. Brzezicki, Tindall Avenue, Trenton, architectural draftsman for Kassler and Weisbecker, 18 Nassau Street: I don't think so, unless there was some special reason for it. I don't think they should do it just because Yale or any other Ivy school may admit women. I feel the atmosphere would change for the worse. One of the reasons you go to Princeton is to get away from a coeducational atmosphere. There aren't many schools left any more where you can do this.

Mrs. Henrietta Mandel, 32 Jefferson Road, housewife: Yes, I feel that Princeton University — one of the better schools in the country—should be made available to outstanding women students. Why not? Women should have as much opportunity as men, provided they have the qualifications. I feel you could do it slowly, start out with a limited number of women, and gradually absorb them into the school program as facilities became available. But in the end, you would have to leave it up to the student body and the alumni.

Mrs. Joseph Buck, Prospect Avenue Extension, practical nurse: Yes, definitely. It would give a lot of opportunity for women here in town. Even those in transient situations could take advantage of it. Some women — the wives of graduate students, for example — are here for three years or more. They could spend those three years studying. Here's a chance for them to keep up with their husbands.

Chang Shen Ching, Graduate College, working toward advanced degree in art: No. I don't think it should. If they have girl students here, the boys would not be able to concentrate. They would want to go out on dates. It's the traditional system here at Princeton and I would like to see that tradition kept. Princeton is Princeton. It has nothing to do with Yale. Princeton has a good reputation of its own; it doesn't have to follow other universities. If they admit girls, they may do something to weaken the fine reputation of Princeton that the men have always upheld.

Miss Michele Omaher, Rosedale Road, artist: Yes, I think the students would be better off with women around. It would be more normal than just having them around on special weekends.

Mrs. Mary Rich, 30 Jefferson Road, housewife: No, Princeton is traditionally a man's college — why not keep it that way? They have so many good co-ed colleges around the country, let's not turn Princeton, Harvard or Yale into co-ed institutions, too. I think it would cause an awful upheaval in the University and the town. Where would you put them all?

THIS MESSAGE IS URGENT

As you know, all interest and dividends you receive from money you have put aside in U. S. Savings Bonds, stocks and bonds, Savings Accounts, share accounts, mutual funds, and similar investments are subject to Federal income tax. This income you report, along with your wages or salary each year, and where necessary, you pay income tax on it.

But, the government no longer wants to rely on you to do this job. The Senate is considering now, a bill that will work a severe hardship on millions of Americans . . . and probably you.

If passed, 20% of all of your interest and dividends will be deducted . . . withheld . . . from you and applied, in advance, against your income taxes. If, months later, it turns out you do not actually owe any or all of this withheld tax, you must file a complicated tax form to get your money returned to you . . . and then wait for the refund to be processed by the government and paid.

This method of collecting taxes is costly to you as an individual and as a taxpayer. It will be very expensive to the government. It is an unnecessary chore for you and is expected to result in countless taxpayers sacrificing money that belongs to them to a new system of red-tape and paper-work.

Except government officials who wish to see tax revenue from such sources increased, there are very few in favor of this provision in the bill. The Senate will vote in the next few days. Only you can stop this burdensome system from becoming law.

Write your Senators now. Tell them to vote against the withholding of taxes on interest and dividends.

You may save yourself hours of paperwork and red-tape through the years to come . . . and you will keep control of money that belongs to you . . . without having to ask for it back.

EDWARDS RESIGNS

From Admission Post. C William Edwards, Director of Admission in Princeton University, has submitted his resignation, effective in June, to concentrate on family business interests. He will be succeeded by E. Alden Dunham, assistant to Dr. James B Conant in the studies, "The American High School Today," "Slums and Suburbs" and others.

Mr Edwards' resignation and the appointment of his successor were announced by Dean J Douglas Brown, Dean of the Faculty, acting on behalf of President Robert F Goheen, who is currently visiting universities in Japan.

President Goheen, in a statement prepared prior to his departure, expressed deep regret for Mr Edwards' decision to leave the University. "Over the past 17 years," he said, "Mr. Edwards has served as a roving ambassador for Princeton as well as a singularly effective spokesman for higher education. . . . He has demonstrated rare understanding of young men and has helped establish new high standards of college counseling."

A member of Princeton's class of 1936, Mr Edwards joined the University in 1945 as assistant director of admissions, after compiling a distinguished record with the American Field Service in the Mediterranean Theater during World War II. He became head of admissions in 1950, succeeding the late Radcliffe Heermance. He has served on the College Entrance Examination Board Executive Committee and its Committees on Examinations and Admissions Proposed Procedures, and as an advisor for nationwide scholarship programs sponsored by American industry. He is vice president of the American Field Service and chairman of the Board of Trustees of Princeton Country Day School.

Mr Dunham, 30-year old native of Montclair, traveled extensively throughout the country in helping prepare Dr. Conant's widely-acclaimed studies of American public education. Following his graduation from Princeton in 1953, where he combined highest scholastic honors with three years of varsity tennis, he served for three years of active duty as an officer in the U. S. Naval Reserve.

A member of the Phillips Academy, Andover, faculty in 1956-57 under the Andover Teaching Fellowship Program, he received his Master of Arts in Teaching at Harvard in 1959 and his doctorate in education from Columbia three years later. He is married to the former Louise Green, daughter of Robert M. Green of The Great Road. They have two children and are currently living in Upper Montclair.

THE MARKET OUTLOOK

The market never moves in one direction very long! Although the last week wos one of recovery, there remains the possibility of a test of the recent lows. Cautious buying ot this time is advised. The basic bullish bios built into the morket is undisturbed.

For the conservotive investor seeking generous income with modest copitol gains potentiol (10%-25%) over the next yeor, we suggest the purchose of KENNECOTT COPPER (78) ond INGERSOLL RAND (72). Both ore currently yielding around 6%.

Situotions which we favor for long-term copitol gains ot this time include GEORGIA PACIFIC (51½), GREAT WESTERN FINANCIAL (28), FALCONBRIDGE NICKEL (55), STANDARD OIL OF INDIANA (52). All of these issues are reasonobly priced ond have specific corporate developments which moke them ottractive.

DELHI-TAYLOR (12) ond VALLEY METALLURGICAL (21½) ore interesting speculotions ot this time. Delhi-Taylor is a prime condidate for a buy out by onother oil company during 1962. A price of $20 or more per shore is possible, although the timing of this is difficult. Valley Metallurgicol is o new issue which recently "went public." The compony is in the production of metal powders for solid fuel rockets ond is on exotic stock which moy catch the public fancy. The floating supply of shores is less than 50,000.

On the Americon Exchonge LORAL ELECTRONICS (21½) is in on oversold condition and merits higher prices. UNITED FOODS (7) is expected to show eornings of obout $.35 per shore in its first fiscol quorter ending Moy 31, 1962. A more conservative woy to buy this one is through its convertible debentures troded over the counter ot obout por. Yield on the debentures is 6%.

Recent travelers to other parts of the world ore much impressed with the potentials exhibited by TOKYO SHIBAURA ELECTRIC (13), SIEMENS AND HALSKE (84), ond SWEDISH BALL BEARING-SKF (110). All of these issues sell ot very low multiples by our standords. Purchose of these three as o pockage would seem an intelligent way to minimize political risk.

NORTHRUP CORP. (25½) moy provide interesting troding opportunities over the next month. The issue is selling obout 12 times earnings, very low for a compony which is now basically on electronics company. The price makes no ollowonce for contracts which moy be owarded in the neor future. A more leveraged woy to buy this one is through the NORTHRUP CORP. 5% SUB. DEBENTURES (132½).

More information concerning ony of the companies mentioned obove is ovoilable on request.

TRACK MEET SATURDAY

Against Harvard In Stadium. The lone varsity event of the weekend scheduled for action at home will find Princeton entertaining Harvard in track in Palmer Stadium. A freshman meet will be staged simultaneously, with the first race scheduled to start at 2 o'clock.

Despite several top performers (notably in the pole vault and the high jump), Coach Pete Morgan's team does not figure to defeat Harvard. The Tigers cannot match either the balance or the depth which the Crimson invariably musters, and a strained thigh muscle that is likely to sideline sprinter Hugh MacMillan for the season is no help.

Records Broken Saturday. While defeating Rutgers, 90½ to 58½ Saturday, Princeton set two records that reflect the steadily increasing ability of modern-day athletes to better performances of their predecessors. Charlie Mitchell became the first Ivy League pole vaulter to clear 15 feet when he sailed over the bar on his first try. In the high jump, John Hartnett topped 6 feet, 6 7 8 inches.

Princeton figures to show well in the 220, quarter and two mile in the track events, and in the javelin as well as the pole vault and high jump in the field. All-around balance needed to stage an upset is, however, unavailable.

CREW IN MAJOR UPSET

May Extend String. A totally unexpected triumph over Navy's well-regarded crew has raised Princeton to major status in Eastern rowing circles for the first time in four years. The Tigers came from behind with half a mile left in the mile and three-quarter race at Annapolis, winning by almost a full length.

This weekend, Dutch Schoch's boat will go after Princeton's first victory in the Child's Cup since 1937. Penn, the defending champion, and Columbia will row against the Tigers on the Harlem River with the Orange and Black reigning as a slight favorite off its defeat of Navy.

The race is staged over the Henley distance of a mile and 5/16, and Penn's strength as a sprint crew will be a major threat to the Tigers. The unbeaten Princeton jayvees, and the freshman boat which has lost to Rutgers but defeated the Navy Plebes, will also take part in the regatta.

Lightweights Here. Carnegie Lake will be the scene of three 150-lb races against Cornell, with the freshman event set for 4:30 and the jayvee and varsity shells following at 15-minute intervals.

The Princeton lightweights also topped their Navy counterparts Saturday, winning by half a length. Only the junior varsity 150-lb race went to the middies in what ranks as one of the best performances by Tiger oarsmen in the post-war years.

BALL TEAM SPLITS

But Loses League Game. Since its return from the Florida vacation trip, Princeton's baseball record against non-league opponents stands at 3-1. In the Eastern League standings, however, the Tigers are no better than 1-2, which is equal to virtual elimination in the short, nine-game season.

Last weekend was typical of inability to win the games that mean the most: a 4-2 loss to Dartmouth Friday was followed by a 12-2 hammering of Manhattan on Saturday afternoon. As much as anything else, the defeat at the hands of the Indians was attributable to miserable base running.

With none out and runners on first and second, the Dartmouth shortstop broke toward the bag. The Indians' pitcher never made a move toward a pickoff play but the runner raced back toward the base. While he was doing so, the pitcher threw to the plate, the batter laid down a perfect bunt but the runner was an easy forcer at third because he was going the wrong way on the pitch.

Later, a Princeton batter walked to open an inning and was promptly picked off first while napping. Finally in what was always a tight ball game, a runner on third went half way down the line on a twisting fly that the second baseman caught running away from the plate. Had the runner tagged, chances appeared better than even that the fielder's momentum would have prevented an accurate throw home.

Penn Schoolwerth, who hasn't been as good as either Paul Lahti or Gerry Skey this season, was the starting and losing pitcher against Dartmouth. Held to five hits, the Tigers finally folded with the tieing run at first when Captain Jack Whitehouse fanned for the last out.

Lucky Seventh. A seven-run seventh broke open a close contest against Manhattan, Skey winning his second game of the week and third of the year as he went the distance, scattering seven hits. The Tigers hammered out three triples in their big inning, Whitehouse getting the first with the bases loaded.

League games against Brown and Harvard are on the weekend schedule. Princeton will play at Providence Friday and at Cambridge Saturday, with the pitching probably not strong enough to achieve a double victory.

OTHER SPORTS

Lacrosse Team to Hanover. After opening defense of its Ivy League title Wednesday of this week against Pennsylvania, Princeton's lacrosse team will head for Hanover Saturday to meet Dartmouth.

Springdale Season To Start

A dinner Friday night at the Princeton Inn and a one-day tournament Saturday will launch the 1962 season for members of the Springdale Golf Club this weekend.

Following a draw Friday night, the annual Member-Member Tournament will take place Saturday. The team finishing with the low net best ball after 18 holes will win.

The qualifying round for the President's Cup will be held Saturday, May 4, with first-round play beginning the following day. The annual Member-Guest Invitation Tournament, a three-day affair, will be staged May 25-27.

As action nears the climatic portion of the race, the Big Three shape up as the powers in the league, with Dartmouth, Cornell and Penn the second-division bets.

Army had too much for the Tigers Saturday, moving out to a 3-2 margin at the half and increasing this to 9-3 before a Princeton rally bit into the cadets' lead. Captain Phil Allen scored three times to pace an attack that cut the deficit to 10-8, an Army goal in the last 17 seconds making it an 11-8 final.

Princeton's unbeaten tennis team will be at Ithaca Saturday and plays Columbia here Tuesday afternoon. The Tigers breezed by Dartmouth, 8-1, last week, losing only the third doubles match. Dave Smoyer, Princeton resident, was a member of the Indians' winning combination.

Harry Kinnell's golfers are also unbeaten, following victory over Harvard and Brown last week in a triangular match at Cambridge. They'll face Army and Georgetown on the Springdale course Saturday at 1:30.

PHS NINE WINS FIRST

Opposes THS Thursday. The Princeton High School baseball team won its first game in three outings last Thursday when it defeated Trenton Catholic behind the clutch pitching of Jim Quinn and the slugging of Ray Britton and Captain Dave Lanning. The game was played at Trenton's Wetzel Field and was a 6-2 triumph for PHS.

The Little Tigers will attempt to add another victory to their record Thursday afternoon at the expense of archrival Trenton High. The contest will be the Blue and White's home opener and will be played at Harris Field starting at 3:30. Coach Harry Zoll declined to name his starting pitcher for the important match, saying that a lot would depend on what happened in Tuesday's fray against Hamilton High School.

In the Trenton Catholic contest, each team got five hits. The big difference was Quinn's ability to pitch himself out of tight spots in six of the seven innings. Only once, in the fifth when he filled the bases with free passes, did his control desert him. In all, the lanky PHS southpaw forced Catholic batters to strand 11 teammates.

"For a boy who played centerfield last season and who never pitched before this year, Quinn had tremendous courage and displayed a lot of determination," observed Zoll. "Anytime you can force a team to leave 11 men on base you're doing O. K. In fact, he did very well."

Princeton actually scored all the runs it needed the first time at bat. Ray Britton and Lanning reached TC starter and loser Bill Weiss for first-inning singles that triggered a three-run outburst which included a walk, a passed ball and an error. The visitors then put the game out of reach by adding another run in the sixth and a pair in the seventh and final frame.

With the exception of the first inning, Quinn was potential trouble the rest of the way. A pair of lead-off singles in the second inning, a triple in the fourth, three walks in the fifth and a single and error with none out in the seventh all went for naught. Only in the third and sixth were the losers able to score single runs.

B.M.I. Wins. The day before, The Little Tigers dropped a 14-13 decision to the Bordentown Military Institute team at Bordentown in a contest that resembled baseball infrequently at best. The game was marked by 20 hits, 10 for each team, a total of 17 runs in the last two innings, and two Blue and White pitchers issuing seven walks in one inning. "You can imagine what kind of ball game it was," said Zoll.

"You still have to give the players a lot of credit," Zoll added. "They refused to quit. They were down seven runs in the last inning and yet they had the tying and winning run on base before it was over. Just one more hit would have won the game for us. They showed a lot of courage and determination." The visitors led the Cadets 3-1 at the end of the second.

Dave Shields, Tom Stemmle, Jimmy Case and Greg Stett had a hand in the pitching for PHS. Case, a sophomore, and veterans Quinn and Britton had seven of their team's 10 hits.

Zoll is well pleased with his team's current 1-2 record. "We could have easily won all three," he said. "We played heads up ball against Trenton. We hustled and we looked pretty good. If we get some pitching, we'll give most of the

PETE SANNINO
Princeton Sportsman

The Princeton sports scene is the richer each year because of the intense interest in many kinds of athletic activity of a lifelong resident of the community. Pete Sannino, who was born on Oakland Road on New Year's Day in 1921 and still lives there with his parents, is a year-round sponsor of teams in basketball, bowling and softball.

A backer of teams in the town's various softball leagues for a dozen years, his Ivy Inn entry won the community championship here last summer and then took part in the Class A State Tournament at Elizabeth. This spring, Pete will guide his team into tougher competition as it begins participation next month in the City of Trenton Fast Pitch League. A busy schedule will be rounded out with Sunday games in various parts of the state against many of the best nines playing today.

Action by a Sannino-backed team this winter was climaxed by another championship when the entry bearing his name compiled a 10-2 mark to win the title in the YMCA Research and Industrial League. His Ivy Inn bowling team stands well up in the B League at the Princeton Recreation Alleys, while a Princeton entry in the New Jersey Golden Gloves tournament was sponsored and managed by this sports-minded plumbing and heating contractor.

Pete attended the Princeton Township School and graduated from Princeton High in 1939. Small in stature, he confined his own athletic participation to track (the 880), and in golf while a caddy at Springdale, scoring in the 80's. He boxed as a lightweight in the Golden Gloves in 1940 and took constant part in boxing while serving a four-year stint in the U.S. Navy beginning in 1942.

Virtually every type of athletics elicits a major degree of interest in Pete, who is regarded as an authority on many counts by those who congregate at the Ivy Inn. But, say those who are deeply appreciative of the interest that has made it possible for numbers of his fellow Princetonians to take part in sports of their choosing, his dominant quality is his overwhelming generosity.

teams some trouble before the season's over. We'll win some more.

PHS WILL ENTER TEAM

In Penn Relays. Out of seven boys, Princeton High School track coach Jerry Groniger will pick four to represent the school in the Penn Relays to be held Friday and Saturday in Philadelphia. PHS will participate in a class mile which competes schools according to enrollment.

The seven are co-captain Tom Bogia, Bruce Baxter, Arthur Brooks, John Bensinger, Art Ridler, Jim Norris and Don Zuber. Groniger reported that he intends to let the group do a lot of running before making his selections later in the week.

Last week, the Blue and White lost its first dual meet in two outings to a powerful New Brunswick contingent at New Brunswick, 96 1/3 to 20 2/3. The only members of the PHS squad not engulfed by the tide were Gary Mount and Henry Schmidt. Mount took first in the shot with a toss of 47' 10" and Schmidt won the mile in 4'53.

As an example of what the losers were up against, Bogia, who covered the 100 in ten flat for the best time in his career, came in third to a 9.9 and 9.8 posted by New Brunswick. The story was repeated in the 220 when Bogia's fine 22 flat was good only for third behind times of 21.7 and 21.8. "With times like those, New Brunswick will place in the state meet," said Groniger, a little wistfully.

HUN WINS OPENER

Faces Test at Germantown. The Hun School baseball team, whein averaged 10 runs per game in 12 contests last season, picked up where it left off by defeating George School, 10-6, in its opener last Wednesday at Newtown, Pa. Hun's earlier home games with Pennington and Blair Athyn, had been rained out.

The Red and Black will clash with undefeated Germantown Friday at the Pennsylvania schooi's diamond for a game that new coach Sanford Bing predicted "could make us or break us." There is no question that the Quakers, currently 3-0 including two shutouts, are pointing to Friday's encounter as Hun was the only team to defeat Germantown last season. Bing's free-swinging team will return home Tuesday for a 2:30 game with the Spartan nine from Solebury.

A barrage of runs marked the opening game with George School. Thirteen of the game's runs were scored in the first inning and a half. Hun opened with five and followed with four more in the second frame to put the game out of reach, after the home team had scored four runs on two homers in its half of the first inning.

Frank "Smokie" Black, returning ace fireballer for Johnny Hun, settled down after his shaky start and pitched two-hit ball the rest of the way. Co-captain Paul Savidge drove in three runs with a triple and a single, while Black helped his own cause by driving in a pair of runs with a double and a single. First baseman Alex Langel also drove in two for the winners.

Coach Bing reported that he was "very satisfied" with his team's initial effort. "Our hitting, running and fielding was very good." He was especially pleased with his team's hitting and base running in a practice game against Lawrenceville School Saturday in which the Red and Black shutout the Larries, 7-0. One discordant note, however, was the arm injuries sustained by veteran centerfielder, Gary Grover. "Gary hasn't been able to play since and his chances of starting the next game are doubtful," Bing said.

The batting order fielded by Bing in Hun's opener: Owen Young, 3b; Al Staller, 2b; Al Langel, 1b; Paul Savidge, cf; Gary Grover, cf; Larry Haggarty, lf; Black, p; Phil Newell, rf; Dave Penrose, ss. Substituting for the injured Grover will be sophomore Herman Penner.

BOWLING NOTES

Yeomans Moves Up. Another eight-point jump by Yeoman's Liquors in the A League brought it to within two points of the Knights of Columbus last week. The latter has 56 points to 54 for the second-place entry, while Princeton Inn (48) and Nini Motors (43) trail.

Edwards Jewelers (60) kept first place in the B League, ahead of Sportsmen No. 2 (56) and Walker-Gordon (52). In the Industrial League, First National Bank climaxed its April drive upward by capturing first place with 41 points, Para Lab Supply dropping to second. It is now tied with Nassau Service at 38 each.

TIGERS TOP CCNY

Whitehouse 4 for 5. Four singles in five trips to the plate by Captain Jack Whitehouse paced Princeton's 11-hit attack on City College of New York Tuesday, the Tigers coasting to an 11-3 victory on Clarke Field.

Tenn Schoolworth, who rose to fleeting fame a year ago by throwing a no-hitter against the visitors, picked up his first victory of the current season at their expense. His mates got him off to a 3-0 lead in the first and he was never in serious trouble.

Right fielder Mike Devine collected two of the victors' hits in a revamped batting order that now has Roger Hoit in the leadoff spot. The triumph nearly brought the Tigers even with the .500 mark 6-7-1 to date.

PHS BEATEN, 9-3

Hamilton Easy Victor. A three-run first inning made the going easy for Hamilton High School's baseball team Tuesday as it went on to trim Princeton High, 9-3. The contest was played on the victors' diamond.

A double by third baseman Ted Skaar was the big blow in the two-run rally which the Little Tigers staged in the second, but Hamilton matched this pair with two more of its own in the third. Skaar and Captain Dave Lanning each bit safely twice for the Blue and White, which dropped its third game in four starts.

BABYLONIAN SYSTEM?

Parents To Get Explanation. Parents who want to know why their children are being taught the Babylonian number system will have an opportunity to find out Tuesday evening at 8 when the School Mathematics Study Group Program will be the subject of the Parent-Teachers Association meeting to be held at the Johnson Park School.

Dr. Marion Epstein, member of the Township School Board, will explain the new program which was designed by the National Science Foundation to introduce children to basic mathematical concepts at an early age. Mrs. Frances Stonaker will describe her experiences teaching the program to the fourth grades at Johnson Park.

The committee to study the System and other SMSG material being incorporated into the fifth and sixth grade curricula includes Mrs. Helen Hahn, Edna Campion and Ronald Rouse. All are members of the Johnson Park School staff.

"ALTAR BOUND?"
Go the Last Mile in Style

Are you planning a wedding soon? Why not make an appointment to discuss your wedding flowers with Don Allen?

Just tell us a little about your gowns, your colors and your flower preferences, and when we meet, we will have some sketches ready with some realistic ideas on how to make your wedding flowers a beautiful part of your "Memory Picture."

We do not take on more weddings than we can carefully handle, so if you're thinking of calling Allen's, call us early, as we'd hate to turn you down later, if we are fully booked.

Our reputation with wedding flowers is legend in these parts, and we'd love to take part in your wedding. If you have an hour or two we'll discuss it from all angles—style, service, budget.

Won't you call us today?

THE "Y" OPENS ITS DOORS: "Come to our 'Open House,'" is the invitation extended for this Thursday by the YWCA, Avalon Place. The sound of music, the splash of a diver and the gurgling noise at the bottom of a soda glass are all part of the scheme at the "Y", as the visitor will discover. Above, Mrs. Roger Maren introduces Margaret Hunt, Lisa Fischbeck and Peter Gronnevik to the world of music, while a teenage diver (right), practices form and function. At the "Y" fountain, Leola Wooten, Jamie Edwards and Patty Goodwin (left to right) sample the goodness that comes up through a straw. (Staff Photos)

MISSIONARY TO TALK

On Communism, Dr. Frank C. Laubach, whose "Each One Teach One" method has taught an estimated 100 million illiterates to read and write, will give a public lecture at 8 p.m. Sunday at Princeton Methodist Church, on reversing the advance of Communism in underdeveloped countries.

Called the "world's literacy missionary," Dr. Laubach began his work 33 years ago among the savage Moros in the Philippines. He reduced their Maranow language to writing and later developed the basic technique described in his "Streamlined English" to help the ten to 15 million illiterates in the United States. Adults have learned to read in over 300 languages through Dr. Laubach's work with educators, government officials, private welfare agencies and missionaries in 101 countries.

Now 78, his belief is that the people of grassroots America can stem the tide of conversion to Communism which is estimated at a rate of 100 million a year from over half of the world. He is traveling through the United States and Canada urging the people to seize their fast-vanishing opportunity. The lecture is free.

INTEGRATION TALKS SET

For This Weekend. Aspects of integration from the historical, social, juridical, international and theological points of view will be discussed by well-known figures at the Biennial Religious Conference to be held from this Thursday until Sunday in McCosh 10 at Princeton University.

The conference has chosen not to debate the issue of integration as opposed to segregation, but to assume the presence of integration as a legal fact. Participants will be confronted with many aspects of the topic: "Integration: Conscience in Crisis." The schedule of speakers is listed in Calendar of the Week, page 15.

CHILDREN TO BENEFIT

Shelby Rooks of the Rockefeller Study Group on "One Family Under God: Who Is My Family?" and to learn of camp needs from Mrs. Harry Hill, chairman of the Council's project to ensure happy, healthy vacations for needy children. Mrs. Ermaline Gaskins, of the Witherspoon Presbyterian Church, will be general chairman of the meeting.

Assisting Mrs. Orion C. Hopper, Council president, as hostesses from the participating churches will be: Society of Friends, Mrs. F. Wayne Birch and Mrs. Cyrus Young; Witherspoon Presbyterian, Mrs. David Taylor, Mrs. Howard Wood, Sr. and Mrs. Floyd Campbell; Trinity Episcopal, Mrs. Hill, Mrs. George Thomas, Mrs. Lewis B.
